

CALL FOR PAPERS

III INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF THE IBERO-AMERICAN SOCIETY OF HEGELIAN
STUDIES (SEH)

Temporalities and Spatialities in Hegel's Philosophy

November 4-6, 2026

Xalapa, Veracruz, Mexico

IN COLLABORATION WITH THE VERACRUZANA UNIVERSITY AND THE GROUP LA RAZÓN EN LA HISTORIA, THE IBERO-AMERICAN SOCIETY OF HEGELIAN STUDIES (SEH) IS ORGANIZING THE 3RD INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF SEH, TITLED "TEMPORALITY AND SPATIALITY IN HEGEL'S PHILOSOPHY," WHICH WILL TAKE PLACE FROM NOVEMBER 4 TO 6, 2026, IN XALAPA, VERACRUZ.

The aim of this meeting is to promote rigorous and critical analysis of the notions of space and time in Hegelian philosophy, as well as to encourage their projection and interpretation in contemporary debates. Hegel approaches space and time not only as determinations of nature, but also as fundamental elements in logic, as keys to understanding the moments and forms of the spirit, and, of course, they are present in the structure of history itself. Against this backdrop, this congress aims to foster a philosophical dialogue that includes critique and explores these key dimensions, emphasizing their importance within the Hegelian system and their potential to reshape contemporary debates.

TOPICS

*Panels will be organized thematically

- Space and Time in the Encyclopedia of the Philosophical Sciences
- Space, Time, and Logic in the Science of Logic
- Spatiality and Temporality in the Phenomenology of Spirit
- Nature, Movement, and Extension in the Philosophy of Nature
- Historical Time, Becoming, and Destiny in the Philosophy of History
- Subjectivity, Temporality, and Experience
- Political Space and Historical Time in the Philosophy of Law
- Contemporary Reinterpretations of Space and Time in a Hegelian Key
- Hegel and the Phenomenological Critique of Time (Husserl, Heidegger, Merleau-Ponty)
- Space and Time in the Lessons of Aesthetics
- Comparisons with Kant, Schelling, Fichte, and Other Modern Thinkers
- Post-Hegelian Appropriations of Space and Time (Marx, Derrida, Deleuze, etc.)
- Geography and Geology in the Philosophy of Nature
- Opposition and/or Connection between 'World' and 'Earth'
- Spatial and/or Temporal Metaphors Throughout the System
- Earth, Nature, and Property in Young Hegel

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION:

We warmly encourage submission of abstracts of 300-500 words in Spanish, English, or Portuguese, along with a brief academic biography of up to 200 words. Please send your submissions by March 15th, 2026, to the email: seh.hegelmexico2026@gmail.com

If a research group wants to propose a specific roundtable or showcase their collective work, they should submit a proposal outlining the focus of their project.

The conference's academic committee will review the abstracts, and acceptance notifications will be sent by April 30, 2026.

Accepted papers must be no longer than 30 minutes.

 Because we prioritize discussion, space for participation in the event will be limited.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

In-person modality at UV-Xalapa.

A special edition, coordinated by the SEH, is under consideration for publishing a selection of papers.

Information about accommodation, transportation, and lodging will be provided with the acceptance letter.

Official languages of the congress are Spanish, Portuguese, and English.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND UPDATES, VISIT:

<https://iiicongresosehhegelmexico.wordpress.com>

<https://www.uv.mx/filosofia/>

Or follow us on our social media:

<https://www.facebook.com/centro.deestudioshegelianos>

 To participate in the conference, registration with the Ibero-American Society for Hegelian Studies is required

ORGANIZING COMMITTEE:

Zaida Olvera

Ana Miranda

Yared Elguera

Javier Balladares

ORGANIZERS:

Ibero-American Society of Hegelian Studies (SEH)

Veracruz University, Mexico

La razón en la Historia. Estudios hegelianos en México